The City of Arlington Landmark Preservation Commission will host a public hearing to provide a report on the completed Historic Resources Survey. The survey prepared an inventory of pre-1960 historically significant structures, buildings, places, and objects of architectural, historical, and cultural value situated in the city of Arlington.

Komatsu Architecture, Inc. is leading the Historic Resources Survey team. Phases I, II, and III are complete.

- Phase I updated the 1987 Historic Resources Survey, which documented pre-World War II properties and surveyed all properties within the boundaries of the Old Town and South Center Street Historic Districts.
- Phase II completed a survey of pre-1945 properties that were not identified by the 1987 Historic Resources Survey.
- Phase III surveyed structures/developments that are now over 50 years old, post-World War II until 1955. This aspect of Arlington's Historic Resources Survey drew the attention of Governing, a national magazine which reports on state and local government issues.
